

Aesthetic Dermatology

As we get older, our skin starts to show signs of aging. Unfortunately, this is an inevitable part of the aging process and can be quite a blow to our ego, confidence and self-image. This is especially true when you start to notice lines around your eyes and mouth. These wrinkles are a side-effect of your skin losing collagen and elastin, components in the chemical make-up of your skin responsible for its volume and elasticity.

Wouldn't you like to look more like a more youthful you again?

Injectable treatments can help smooth your skin and minimize wrinkles and lines of aging. Injections of the purified protein, Botulinum Toxin A, are used to temporarily block nerve impulses and weaken the muscles that cause frown lines, worry lines, and crow's feet.

Your unwanted lines fade away within days of treatment, creating a younger and more relaxed appearance. There is no downtime after receiving injections and results can last up to 4 months.

Our qualified clinicians have a range of facial aesthetic treatments that can help combat these wrinkles and other signs of aging skin. Whether you wish to smooth away noticeable lines that appear when you laugh, frown or smile, or those pesky lines that are always on view, we have treatment options that will help.

Anti-wrinkle injections Our qualified facial aesthetics clinician can prescribe anti-wrinkle injections. Known by the brand name, Botox and Dysport, these treatments can target muscles under the skin and block nerve signals. This stops wrinkles that appear through muscle movement in the face.

Topical and Injectable Peptides The Collagen and Aesthetic peptide - GHK-Cu is a small naturally occurring tri-peptide copper ion binding complex. GHK-Cu has multiple biological actions and has established itself as a powerful protective and regenerative ingredient widely used in skin and hair products.

Facial aesthetic consultations Everyone has a different skin type so we offer facial aesthetic consultations where we can talk you through which treatments would deliver the best results for your skin.
